Maha Code of Conduct & Sexual Harassment Policy

Prepared in partnership with the Women's Fund of Omaha.

Maha is a welcoming summer festival and community. As an attendee, you play an active role in creating an enjoyable and accepting environment for fellow attendees, including being an active bystander and speaking out when you see unacceptable behavior. Maha has a zero-tolerance policy for harassment or discrimination of any kind, including but not limited to: race, color, national origin, citizenship status, pregnancy, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, age, body size, religion and disability status.

Offensive behavior includes, but is not limited to:

- Language that is verbally abusive, intimidating or threatening
- Stalking behavior
- Non-consensual touching, groping or sexual assault
- Unwanted sexual remarks or jokes
- Racial or ethnic slurs, demeaning comments on gender or sexual orientation (including perceived orientation or gender identity)
- Harassing or non-consensual photography or recording and the distribution thereof
- Physical acts of intimidation, assault or battery

What does consensual mean? When permission is freely given and agreed to on an ongoing basis throughout interaction. In order to be consensual, both parties must be able to freely consent, which cannot occur if one party is incapacitated or severely intoxicated, or if there is a power dynamic between the two parties.

Any individual or groups found in violation of this policy may be removed from Maha events and banned from re-entering.

Maha Festival Photo Policy

By attending Maha Festival (the "Festival"), you consent to being filmed and or photographed, whereas your image, voice, and likeness may be used by the Festival producers for promotional purposes. Any photography taken at the Festival, whether in digital or analog format, is subject to mandatory, non-exclusive license to the Festival producers for use in Festival promotional purposes. Any artwork or performances sponsored by the Festival or taking place on Festival grounds is also subject to a mandatory, non-exclusive license to Festival producers for use in Festival promotional purposes.

Risk Statement

There are risks involved in any event. By going to the Festival, you assume all risks incidental to the Festival and release YFC, Inc. (Maha), Eventbrite, One Percent Productions, and their respective affiliates from all claims related to or arising out of the Festival or your presence at the Festival. The ticket you hold is subject to all applicable policies of the Management of the Festival. This ticket is a revocable license to enter the Festival at the date and time listed. What that means is that Management reserves the right, without paying a refund, to refuse entry or eject you if you are not complying with all Management policies applicable to the Festival.

The Festival date and time is subject to change. Performing acts and times are subject to change. Resale and/or transfer of the ticket may be prohibited by Management's policies, and if so, any such resale and/or transfer is void to the maximum extent allowed by applicable laws. Any such unauthorized resale and/or transfer may result in refusal of entry without refund. Tickets not obtained directly from Management may be lost, stolen, counterfeit or invalid, in which case they will not be honored.
